Valuable Family Medicines.

JUST received direct from the proprietors, the following valuable Medicines, all of which have been in use for a number of years past, in almost every part of the United States; have been highly patronized and approved by those who have had occasion to make use of them, for the cure of those disorders, for which they are several-ly calculated.

Dr. Lee's Genuine (Windham) Bilious Pills.

Universally known and used throughout the United States, as a Family Medicine. The fame of these pills has become so great that many have attempted to counterfeit them—to guard against this, the proprietors have procured a Stereotype Label, and after being enclosed in one of these labels, with these words on the sides: "Lee's the end of the Label the words, 'Samuel Lee, patentee, &c. I. Thompson, agent, joint proprietor,' &c. and should any be offered for sale without said Label on them, are counterfeited.

Dr. Thompson's Celebrated Eye-Water.

For the cure of inflamed and sore eyes of almost every description. This valuable preparation comes highly recommended from the most respectable sources. Price 50 and 25 cents a bottle.

Dr. Rawson's Genuine Itch Ointment.

A certain and safe cure for that disagreeable complaint, as well as other eruptions of the skin. Price 37 1/2 cents a box.

Dr. Rawson's Anti-Bilious and Stomachic Bitters.

For weakly and infirm constitutions. Price 37 1/2 cents a box.

Hinckley's Infalible Remedy for the Piles.

A most valuable medicine. Price 50 cents a box.

Specific Drops for the Tooth Ache.

Which in almost every case, gives instant relief, in that distressing complaint. Price 37 1/2 cents a bottle.

Cooley's Vegetable Elixir, for Coughs, Asthmas, Consumptions, &c.

A very valuable medicine in those complaints. Price 50 cents a bottle. For sale in Alexandria, by Edward Stabler & Richard H. Little, in Georgetown, by John Little Osho, M. Lanthicum & Co. & Nathaniel Jewett; Washington City, David Ott & Elisha Harrison 6w March 1

Mr. Editor.

KNOWING that there is a number of make it a business to spread evil reports respecting the solvency of banks in the different parts of the United States, for the purpose of depreciating and purchasing their paper. I feel it is my duty to give a list of the Banks of the District of Columbia, in every part of the Union, that the said Banks do pay specie for their notes, on demand, and that they are justly entitled to the highest credit and standing, and that they are opposed to a suspension of specie payments, and will be the last in the country that will agree to such a measure. This communication is made to prevent imposition, and to inform all persons who may have the paper of these banks, in any part of the Union, that they may hold it as so much specie. Persons emigrating and travelling north, south or west, would do well by taking the notes of those banks, as they will always find them equal to specie, and often to command a premium of 5 to 10 per cent, for remittances to Baltimore, Philadelphia & New-York. To my numerous acquaintances (trading men,) and the community, I pledge myself for the foregoing.

The following are the banks of this district that pay specie for their notes on demand, viz:
The Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown,
Central Bank of Georgetown & Washington,
Union Bank of Georgetown,
Bank of Columbia,
Bank of the Metropolis,
Patriotic Bank of Washington,
Bank of Washington,
Bank of Alexandria,
Union Bank of Alexandria,
Farmers Bank of Alexandria,
Bank of Potomac,
Branch Bank of the United States at Washington.

I hold myself responsible for the foregoing declaration to the public. Done at my Exchange Banking House, Bridge-street, Georgetown, this 26th day of May, 1849.

FOREIGN NEWS.
publican, received per Mohawk, from Liverpool.

From the London Morning Post of April 15.

Paris papers to the 12th instant have come to hand. It appears by them that the king of France is indisposed—a fact of no slight degree of importance, when we contemplate the events that are likely to take place on the demise of an infatuated monarch, who, consenting as it were to the mere possession of a life interest, has been seduced to the degrading and ruinous expedient of surrounding his throne with the most determined enemies of the Bourbon Dynasty—the very worst surviving classes of those infernal Jacobins and Regicides, by whom so great a portion of his family were brought to the block, or otherwise murdered; and whose hellish career left devoted France a prey to unheard of horrors, and one immense ensanguined desert. That the unhappy Louis is reduced to such a state as to afford grounds of alarm for his safety and the consequent peace of France (to say nothing of that of the neighboring countries) is evident from the circumstances of so religious a man as he undoubtedly is deeming it necessary to take the sacrament on Easter Sunday by proxy, instead of repairing to the altar himself for that pious purpose; and that his Jacobinical counselors are preparing for the coming events, is a fact no less obvious from the repetition which we find in the journals now before us, of the accounts of the repairs of the fortresses, and the reinforcements of the garrisons and armies of France; at a time when all Europe is in a state of tranquility; and when we were given to understand that the arts of peace alone were for the present at least to be cherished and cultivated in France. There are reports abroad that these preparations are in consequence of the apprehension of a rupture with Austria and Prussia; but, without denying that such an event is probable, we can safely take upon us to say that no such menace is now held out to France by either of these powers, who have assuredly no present inclination for war, and that whatever aggressive spirit may exist is certainly not on their part, however differently the Jacobinical government of France may feel disposed in this respect.

The intelligence relative to the plot to poison the emperor of Austria, by the Italian Jacobins is stated to be fully confirmed.—It was to have been carried into execution at Rovigo, and not at Mantua, and was discovered only a short time before the appointed moment for executing the diabolical design. It is added (we hope correctly) that upwards of two hundred of the conspirators have been arrested.

At Berlin, an infamous attempt has been made to set on fire the hotel of the court of justice. The combustible materials secreted for this purpose were already ignited, when the keeper, alarmed by a sulphureous smell, that appeared to him suspicious, discovered fatal preparations near the chamber of mortgages, and happily before any injury had been sustained.

The chamber of deputies had a public sitting on Saturday. The adjourned debate on the monopoly of tobacco was resumed, and the project of government finally adopted by a majority of 178 to 143. M. Courvoisier then made a report on the first of the three projects of law respecting the press, recommending generally its adoption, but proposing a variety of special amendments. This law, in all its material points, is very similar to that which at present exists in this country. The censorship is proposed to be abolished; authors, printers and publishers made responsible, and offences tried by jury. The discussion of this project was fixed for Wednesday, in preference to that relative to the responsibility of Ministers, who, for reasons doubtless very cogent to themselves, are for postponing the consideration of the latter subject to the next session. French funds 67½.

Extract of a letter from Madrid, dated 27th March, 1819.

"An express, travelling with the greatest haste, and despatched by Gen. O'Donnell, from Cadiz, has arrived here, and the contents of the despatches have spread a most visible alarm among ministers.

"A most sensible alteration is remarked in Lozano de Torres and Eguia. A great bustle has been created in the departments under their charge, and as they are the chief barometers by which the public judge of affairs, curiosity has been considerably awakened, as far as it has been possible to judge from symptoms attended with unusual mystery and alarm, as well as from what it has been possible to gather in private channels, it is believed that general

O'Donnell, the commander in chief of the grand expedition, has discovered a plot, prepared by the disaffected called upon to embark. It is rumored that he expresses his distrust of some officers who have considerable influence among the men, and that besides murmurs on account of pay, &c. there is a great clashing of feeling and sentiment, some being Serviles, others Liberal, and some again Afrancesados, and a fourth class, men who consider themselves under a state of compulsion. It is thought he has requested fresh instructions and powers, whereby much dilemma has been created, though the government was well aware that this new service was not liked, and some difficulties at the moment of embarking were even anticipated—to remedy which, it had been proposed that the king should go down to Cadiz, under a hope that his presence would give greater éclat and overawe the discontented.

This certainly would be a novelty, for Spanish monarchs have seldom quitted the capital, unless on hunting parties; but it is whispered the king has a particular antipathy to visiting Cadiz; a town so lately devoted to the Cortes and a new order of things. The malevolent might say he was himself going to America, as they did of his father, when he thought of visiting Andalusia. Besides arrangements are on the tapis for the king's third marriage.—This dissatisfaction among the troops has been caused by the general dislike to be sent out to serve in America, which has been always considered a kind of banishment, and accounts received from Morillo's army have by no means tended to remove it. The conduct of the party on board the Trinidad transport has been publicly talked of at the messes, and approved of as far as it was dared. The Spanish Army never was fond of a chief who is a rigid disciplinarian, and austere in his manners. This is the case with O'Donnell, who keeps them tight at work.

"The disturbances at Valencia have not yet terminated. Elio is constantly alarmed by pasquades anonymous letters. The bloody edicts he published have excited general discontent.

"The cession of the Floridas is talked of here as a measure long ago resolved upon by this government, and its being carried into effect was supposed to be delayed only by the influence of another power jealous of north America. The Spanish government is not now however, so very punctilious. Little or no gratitude is felt towards England, whose government, it is supposed, secretly favors the Insurgents. A considerable sum will be obtained out of the grants of land in the Floridas, made to the king's favorites, the Duke de Alagon and Pando-Gurostro."

London, April 13.

We understand that Mr. Grafton's motion relative to the catholic claims will certainly be made in the house of commons on the 30th inst. The nature of the motion is understood to be for a committee to inquire into the claims of the catholics.—The opposition to this motion will be led by Mr. Peel, and who is better calculated to fill, with appropriate talents and dignity, this important post of Champion of the British constitution. The cabinet it is known, are divided upon the subject of the catholic claims, seven being for them, and eight against them. But we trust the vast majority of the people will show that they are still against them—and, however dissatisfied some might be with a constitution which has secured us from such perils, and established us in such prosperity and glory, they are for adhering and defending with all their might and with all their main, with hearts and with soul, the institutions of their ancestors.—We shall, no doubt, see again, attempts made to delude the people into a belief that it is a question of religious toleration—it is not—it is a question entirely of political power, in which the concessions are to be made by the Protestant without receiving any equivalent advantages from the catholic. They will not acknowledge the king to be the head of the church, nor suffer us to interfere in the slightest degree in their church, though they would have us, by opening the parliament to them, put them in a situation of interfering with ours.

We shall be much disappointed if the claims be not rejected in the new Parliament by a larger majority than it was by the old parliament.

But there is one point which these repeated attacks upon our protestant church, induces us to press with peculiar earnestness. We would have the Convocation no longer, as it is at present, the shrunk and shapeless skeleton of what it was, but an active and vigorous body watching over the interests of our church.—If we are told that it will again be, as in the end of the reign of Anne, and in the beginning of George the first, intolerant and dangerous to our civil liberty, we reply that the prerogative of the crown might then be applied to dissolve it. But we see no reason to apprehend any such consequences. What danger results from the annual meeting of the church of Scotland. Why should not England have the convocation, as well as Scotland her general assembly.

Courier.

London, April 14.

On Tuesday, three gentlemen went into a public house in the Strand, opposite Norfolk street, and after some conversation, one of them went out to procure provisions for dinner for the party. In the mean time Limbrick, and another police officer entered the house; and on the return of the man who had gone out they seized him, when he threw into the passage a bundle of forged bank of England notes; another of the men ran into the yard, and threw away another bundle of a similar description, but which was recovered. The notes which were for one pound and two pound were quite new. The third man escaped. The two men taken were conveyed away in a hackney coach.

A new cast iron bridge is, we understand, in preparation at Woolwich, to replace the Pagoda bridge in St. James's park, the timbers of which are so much worn and decayed.

April 16.

With regard to the subject of the diminution of the duties on British ships, the Portuguese government had not come to any determination. The capture by Insurgent privateers were so frequent, that a number of trading vessels were detained at Rio Janeiro, Pernambuco and other ports. The squadron in search of them, which had been out cruising in January and February, had cleared the seas of only a few of those which sailed badly.

The following is an extract of a letter from the agent of the Russian company in London, by which it will be seen that the important reduction of 10 per cent, on all goods imported and exported from Russia, has taken place. It will also be observed, that rum is allowed entry on the same terms as other spirits.

Petersburg, Feb. 23.

An ukase has been issued, directing, that in the levying of duties in the different custom houses, for the year 1819, the silver rouble shall be taken at three roubles and 60 copiques bank notes, which make a reduction of 10 per cent on the duties of all imports and exports, excepting to those that pay ad valorem.

Some persons have claimed the right to pay duties on goods imported last year, and still in the custom house, at the new rate of three roubles and 60 copiques; it has been decided that the old duty shall be charged on all goods which shall have been received at any custom house, previous to the receipt of the present order.

I have further to announce, that the order from the department of foreign commerce to the Petersburg custom house, dated 8th February has been made public, authorizing the importation of rum at the same duty as is levied on brandy and arrack, viz. 10 roubles per anker, (silver) and I hope to be able to send a copy and translation of the ukase by an early conveyance.

In the mean time it is necessary to understand that the duty on all spirits is levied according to their strength, that the lowest duty is 10 roubles per anker, and if below, and not above, what is here denominated ten degrees.

If above 10, and not above 15 degrees, is considered pure spirit, and pays 20 silver roubles per anker.

A Paris paper says, "there has been for some time, in the Swiss Canton of Tessin, a species of volcanic eruption. A little mountain near Monthio has opened and has emitted clouds of smoke, accompanied frequently by flame; large blocks of stone have been detached from the mountain and have rolled into the bed of the adjoining river; the air around is impregnated with sulphur.

PREVENTION OF INJURY TO PLANTS FROM INSECTS.

We recommend to gardeners and others at this season of the year, the use of the ammoniacal and tarred liquor obtained from the distillation of coals in the making of gas, for the purpose of keeping grubs and other insects from trees and plants, and of destroying them. The fluid is not at all hurtful, but rather beneficial to the plants and, if merely put round wall trees, on the wall and ground, will keep the snails and other insects from them.

The Dos Hermanos, arrived here from Zanzibar, has on board the captain and 12 men of the Portuguese ship Eperanza, lost on the Europa Rocks, in the Mozambique channel, on the 12th December; she picked them up on the 28th, in an open boat, having left nineteen of the crew on the said rocks, with the greatest part of the cargo which they had saved.

Cadiz, March 20.

The St. Jose, Respiro, arrived from Muros, was taken the 19th inst. 7 leagues north of Cape St. Vincent, by an insurgent schooner privateer, and after plundering her, put on board ten men, belonging to the NS. del Carmen, Garcia; and Maria, Luzarga, from Saloe and Malaga to Bilbao, which vessels she had taken, with two others from Seville and Galicia, and sunk them, 22d. The captain of the Marquis de la Romana, arrived from Lima in 120 days, states that yesterday he saw the Diana frigate in chase of an insurgent corvette.

ALEXANDRIA:
MONDAY, JUNE 7, 1819.

It is gratifying to us to perceive that the citizens of some parts of the union, get every day, more and more into the habit of using coal. There are some places where the increased prices and scarcity of wood must induce the inhabitants to wish that the practice of burning coal had been adopted many years ago. Among the prejudices entertained against the use of this valuable fuel, there is, beside the dislike people have to changing their old habits, one which, if well founded, would, I own be decisive against it, and that is the insalubrity of their vapour, than which nothing can be more obviously groundless. Overgrown and over populous as London is, and replete with every circumstance that can tend to generate disease—such as close, narrow, crowded streets, swarms of paupers laboring under all the evils of disease, dirt and indigence—it scarcely yields to any town for healthfulness, though every creature in it constantly inhales the vapor of pit-coal. At one period of its history it used to be subject to the plague, and the most pestilential diseases, its long exemption from which has been ascribed to the introduction of sea coal. It is pleasing to have such strong grounds for recommending an important national benefit.

It is doubted whether the ancient Britons were acquainted with the properties and uses of this very valuable fossil. For a time, it escaped the knowledge of the Romans, but was afterwards in use among them. For some years immediately following the Norman conquest, a silence prevails concerning it; but in the reign of Henry 3d, the trade in it had a rapid progress. It is a fact worthy of observation, and rendered curious by the contrasted opinions which followed, that in the year 1306, the use of sea coal was, by proclamation, prohibited as a nuisance in London, it being thought to corrupt the air with its stink and smoke. Such a prejudice, however, could not be of long continuance; and this fuel was soon after introduced into the royal palace. It is singular, however, as appears from the household book of the fifth earl of Northumberland, dated in 1512, that in this nobleman's family, they had not yet learned to use it by itself, for this extraordinary reason, "because coals will not lyne withoute wood." At this time, the best coals were 5 shillings per chaldron. Towards the latter end of this reign, an impost of one shilling (instead of two pence, which had been fixed in former times) was granted on every chaldron shipped in the port of Tyne, and to be used within the kingdom. In King James's reign, planting having been much neglected, and wood being very scarce, the burning of coal became general throughout the kingdom. In 1633 the price of a chaldron at Newcastle was nine shillings; and in the next year, Charles the 1st, solely by his own authority, imposed a duty of four shillings per chaldron on all coals exported to foreign ports. On other occasions, it appears that this prince granted exclusive rights to several persons, on the payment of certain customs, on which it may not be amiss here to remark that monopolies contributed very much, among other grievances, to hurt the interest of the unfortunate Charles, with the people of Great Britain. The granting of these in the coal trade appears to have composed no inconsiderable part of that monarch's political sins. Rushworth has preserved a curious letter from the King to the Marquis of Newcastle, written in figure cyphers, from Oxford, and dated 22nd Nov. 1645, concerning the preventing of arms from Holland, in exchange for coals.

ANECDOTE OF AN ARTIST.

Leonardo da Vinci, excelled, in history painting all who went before him; in sculpture and painting he was a master; skilful in mathematics and mechanics, and to his anatomical knowledge the late Dr. Hunter gave the strongest testimony: had this great and deservedly eminent man lived, it was his intention to publish a volume, illustrated by designs of this artist, as anatomical studies. Those who have written of him, mention such instances of his strength as are almost incredible.

He had a fine person, and was perfect master of all the manly exercises. Of an honest, open, and generous disposition, and adorned with uncommon sweetness of manners. At Milan is Leonardo da Vinci's bible, for which James the 1st offered three thousand ducats. He has in this volume put down every painter's or mathematician's thought which occurred to him. It is a Leonardiana, the common place book of a great and wise man. One volume is said to be now in the King of England's library, and was kept in the Queen's house, in St. James's park. This very curious volume is written with the left hand, and written backwards, so that it can be read only by the help of a mirror. When the books and drawings collected by Charles 1st were scattered by the Sybill's Leaves, this invaluable specimen of talents and taste was preserved from the work.

The death of this great artist was not less remarkable than his life was distinguished. The fame of his works having gained him an universal reputation, he was sent for by Francis the first. On his arrival, he was seized with an illness which obliged him to keep his bed. The King, actuated by that respect and regard which great minds always feel for each other, visited him in his chamber. The artist, being informed by those about him, that the king was come to enquire after his health, raised himself from his pillow to acknowledge the honor; Francis embraced him; and Leonardo, fainting at the same moment, expired in the arms of the monarch.

CONTEMPLATION.

We know little of the causes of things, but may see wisdom enough in every thing.—And could we be content to spend as much time in contemplating the wise ends of Providence, as we do in searching into causes, it would certainly make us better men, and not worse philosophers.

At a public meeting of the citizens of Frankfort, Kentucky, the 15th of May, convened by previous notice, the following among other resolutions was adopted: "Resolved, that the banks ought immediately to suspend their payments of specie—suspend their calls—and make moderate issues of paper upon good security, to answer the most pressing demands, until the legislative authority can take the situation of the country into consideration."

From the Lancaster (Ohio) Eagle.

USEFUL IMPROVEMENT.

A gentleman from Indiana passed through this town on Monday last, on his way to Washington City, where he intends getting a patent for converting Wheat into Sugar, and Corn into Molasses; he had a sample of each with him, and they appear to be of equal quality with that made from the maple. He informs us that one bushel of Wheat will make 15 lbs of Sugar, and one bushel of Corn will make 3 gallons of Molasses. He likewise informs us, that it takes less wood, water or labor, than the usual mode of making from the maple tree.

LONGITUDE.

Jonathan Cook, of Monktonborough, has advertised in the Concord Patriot, that he has discovered a principle, and invented a method whereby longitude may be ascertained in as plain and practicable manner as latitude now is. There will be no necessity he says of heaving the log or keeping a log-book; and he asserts that the method may be practised unnoticed by spectators. He offers to make it known to any government or individual on the pledge of a suitable reward, and await the result of the operation.

EXTRAORDINARY COW.

A gentleman, in this village is the owner of a cow, that within the three last years, has produced him seven calves, six of which were twins. The quarters of the single calf weighed one hundred and eight pounds at the age of five weeks. The cow now gives daily twenty-four quarts of milk.

Messrs. Corse & Rounsaville,

Editors of the Alexandria Herald:

GENTLEMEN, Your favor of the 2d inst. is at hand, wherein you offer me an opportunity, through the medium of your paper, to reply to an anonymous publication of the 31st ultimo, for which you will please to accept my thanks.

My reply to that piece, and all others of like character, is, that I have avoided as much as possible coming in contact with blackguards and assassins. Further, that all publications coming from me are intended to convey useful information to the public, and to prevent imposition.

Permit me also the further privilege of your paper, that I may make it known to all persons in every part of the Union, that the Mechanics' Bank of Alexandria do now pay specie for their notes on demand, and that persons holding their paper may rely on its being promptly met. Done at my Exchange Banking House, Bridge-street, Georgetown, this 5th day of June, 1819.

Education.

THE subscriber respectfully informs the citizens of Alexandria, that he intends to open a school on Monday, the 14th inst. for the instruction of boys. He has provided himself with that very retired, airy and commodious room on Columbus-st. lately occupied as a school room by Mrs. Peyton.

Courses of Tuition.

Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English Grammar, Geography, History, Ancient and Modern, Chronology, Logic, Composition, Elocution, Bookkeeping, Mathematics, and the elements of Astronomy and Natural Philosophy; also, the Latin and Greek languages.

Terms of Tuition.

Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English Grammar and Geography, 5 dollars per qr; History, Logic, Composition and Bookkeeping, 8 do; Mathematics, Philosophy, &c. 10 do; Languages, 12 do; pens, ink and pencils furnished in the school.

He assures those who may feel inclined to commit the important trust of the education of their children to him, that nothing on his part shall be wanting to give satisfaction. Upon his new and judicious plan of instruction, boys of ordinary capacity may go through a regular course of arithmetic, English Grammar and Geography in six months, and at the same time pay every necessary attention to their exercises in Reading and Writing.

He possesses the most substantial testimonials of character and capability, which he will feel happy to produce to any gentleman who may call upon him.

Gaston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Potobek creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaster acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 300 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given, for grain being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole; it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary out-house, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of fine fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvas backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Potobek Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.
September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.
THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsome situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence. The improvements are a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutritious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor.

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling.

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case; and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or dissatisfaction on the other, he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.
S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

100 Dollars Reward.

IS known to have been kidnapped from a field near Germantown, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock, on the 30th ult. whilst at work alone, a Free Black Man, named HENRY HUDSON, aged between 21 and 22 years, of the height of five feet five inches, very black complexion and dark eyes, has a scar under his left arm, between the wrist and elbow, occasioned by the cut of an axe.

He is by occupation a farmer, a native of Kent county, in the state of Delaware, had on a blue cloth roundabout jacket, old black silk vest, corded velvet pantaloons, and a wool hat.

He is a very civil, inoffensive man, with rather a downy look. There is reason to suppose that he was decoyed into a carriage, and conveyed southward.

Any information respecting him will be thankfully received. Keepers of turnpike gates, toll bridges, and taverns, are particularly requested to give such information as may be in their power.

The above reward will be cheerfully paid on conviction of the perpetrators of this flagrant outrage upon the rights of a freeborn citizen of the United States.

Exchange & Broker's Office.

Georgetown, District of Columbia.
ROMULUS RIGGS.

At his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns.—All persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current; there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on.

S. A. Marsteller

OFFERS his services in addition to the public sale of lands, &c. the barter and sale at private of lands, leases, rents, &c. He has at present a number of lots and houses in town and of Alexandria, for sale. Also, several tracts in the adjoining country; lots in the city of Washington; and one or more tracts in a fine settled part of Tennessee. For particulars enquire at the auction office, corner of Prince and Water streets.

Vaccinating Institution.

THE small pox having appeared in Alexandria, such persons as have been vaccinated by the subscriber are invited to attend at his office, on St. Asaph-street, between Prince and Duke streets, to have their arms examined. Indigent persons are also invited to the same place for the purpose of being vaccinated. The subscriber will attend at his office every day in the week except Sunday, from 7 o'clock until 10 in the morning, for the purpose of receiving them.

He proposes also to be less particular than heretofore in the investigation of their claims to the benefit of the institution, as may respect their indigence and length of residence in town. The subscriber earnestly requests all such citizens as may be acquainted with persons liable to contagion, to send them without delay as above directed, where they will be served effectually and gratuitously.
